To the parents of my new internship students,

Welcome to The Learning Choice Academy! My name is Joe Medina. This is my third year here at The Learning Choice (TLC). I previously worked for National School District and Sweetwater Union High School District. I am very pleased to be your son or daughter internship teacher for the 2016-17 school year.

I am from Yuma, Arizona. I was born in Yuma, but I have been living in San Diego since I was three years old. After high school I joined the United States Marine Corps. I served in the Marines for 6 years before I attended San Diego State University (SDSU). At SDSU, I graduated with a BA in Liberal Studies. After that, I began working for Sweetwater Union High School District as a substitute teacher and softball coach. Once I received my teaching credential from National University, I began working for National School District. Since I have worked with mainly middle school and high school students, I decided to leave National School District and apply to work here at TLC.

In my spare time I enjoy going to Padres and Chargers games. I also enjoy attending comedy shows anywhere in San Diego. I love playing softball or baseball and watching any movies that have to do with military or sports related. I also enjoy reading anything written by Gary Soto.

I am very excited to be here at TLC. I look forward in teaching the internship course. My goal is to guide my students into making the right decision in education and employment right after high school. If there is anything I can do to further assist you in the education of your son or daughter, please feel free to contact me anytime. I look forward to a wonderful school year.

Sincerely,

Joe Medina
